LABOR DAY TRIBUTE: BUILT BY THE HANDS OF HARD WORK

As we head into September, we pause to celebrate Labor Day – a time to honor the grit, resilience, and determination of America's working class. At Bigfoot Construction Supply, we know our industry runs on sweat, skill, and steel-toed boots – and we're proud to be a part of the blue-collar backbone that builds our communities.

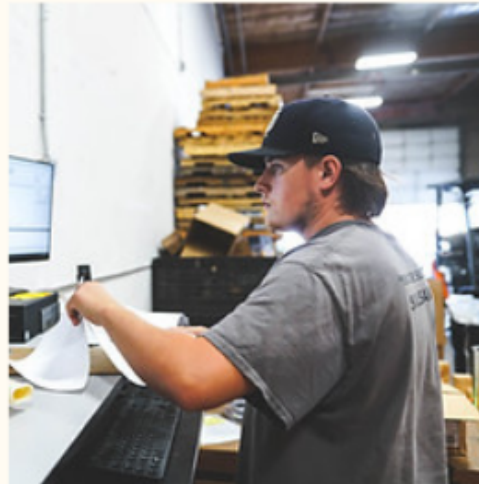

From early mornings on the jobsite to late-night deliveries, your work matters. Your craftsmanship matters. Thank you for all that you do.

This month, we salute the hardworking tradespeople who pour their hearts into every build. As always, Bigfoot is here to support you with the tools, gear, and supplies that keep the job moving – safely and efficiently.

WORK ANNIVERSARIES

TJ O'Rourke

☀ 5 Years

TJ O'Rourke has been with Bigfoot since the early days, serving as our Warehouse Manager — but anyone who knows TJ knows his role goes far beyond that. From hopping on the Inside Sales counter, jumping in a delivery truck, or optimizing our warehouse layout, TJ is a true leader and team player. His knowledge of the industry is second to none, and he's always there to make sure things run smoothly. We're lucky to have a guy like TJ fighting for the good guys every day.

Michael Gomez

☀ 5 Years

Michael Gomez holds down the Inside Sales counter at our Seattle branch and has become a staple of the Bigfoot brand. If you've ever called in or sent over a PO, chances are Mike handled it with precision and a good sense of humor. He's a walking encyclopedia of construction materials and brings great energy to the team every day. If you've ever stopped in to just grab a bag of popcorn, just know that Michael is the master chef for making it happen. We're grateful to have Mike on the front lines with our customers.

Chris Smith

☀ 2 Years

Chris Smith has been a rock-solid driver for the Service Specialties team and is now stepping into a new role behind the counter as a member of the Inside Sales team. His dedication to customer service, adaptability, and willingness to put the team first make him a standout at Bigfoot. Customers know when they're working with Chris that they're sure to get the best service in town, because he truly cares about what we do. We're excited to see him grow in his new position and continue delivering best-in-class service to our customers.

Thank you, TJ, Mike, and Chris — your hard work and loyalty make Bigfoot stronger every day!
